WithumSmith+Brown Utilizes GoFileRoom® ClientFlow™ Module For Increased Client Satisfaction Through Convenience

Englewood Cliffs, NJ, July 24, 2007 –Thomson Tax & Accounting, a business segment of The Thomson Corporation (NYSE: TOC; TSX: TOC), announced today that WithumSmith+Brown, an award-winning and nationally recognized accounting and consulting firm, is taking full advantage of the GoFileRoom ClientFlow module to increase client satisfaction and boost their competitive advantage. The ClientFlow module offers clients of accounting firms access to documents via secure, personalized online portals. As a long-standing user of GoFileRoom, the firm utilizes ClientFlow as its primary tool in disseminating private information to clients.

WithumSmith+Brown implemented ClientFlow in February 2006 as a safer and more secure alternative to emailing confidential information such as tax returns and financial information to clients. By offering access to documents via a secure, personalized online portal, the firm can control what documents the client can access by simply posting them to the portal.

“ClientFlow has allowed us to offer the convenience of online services to our clients. This is such a valuable tool as the accounting profession shifts to more web-based solutions to meet client needs,” said Jim Bourke, CPA, CITP and partner at WithumSmith+Brown. “It keeps us ahead of the game.”

Today, the firm has hundreds of clients set up with ClientFlow. “It has received tremendous support from our client base. In fact, many of our clients like the technology so much that we are currently investigating ways to bring this same technology to them for the digital storage and retrieval of their documents,” Bourke continued. “ClientFlow also allows our staff to respond even more quickly to our clients’ needs. The days of clients asking for copies of their tax returns are over. Today, most of our larger clients know that they can easily access their tax returns directly from their portal. ClientFlow was a quick and easy solution for us to implement, as it utilizes our existing GoFileRoom database as its foundation.”

As the partner in charge of firm technology and information technology consulting services for WithumSmith+Brown, Bourke is extremely knowledgeable about computerized accounting environments, the structuring of communications solutions, computer-assisted office automation and the intricacies of the Internet. He speaks frequently on technology-related topics and has acted as a consultant for numerous CPA firms.

“GoFileRoom is the best document management solution on the market—no one even comes close,” said Bourke. “GoFileRoom’s benefits go far beyond monetary aspects. For us, it means business continuity and 24/7 availability of client data. GoFileRoom was designed with a deep understanding of the accounting profession. Once you implement it, this is immediately apparent.

“Our firm has been involved with GoFileRoom since the early stages of its development. This is a product that can offer firms the ability to efficiently manage and secure all documents at every step of the workflow process. On top of that, GoFileRoom offers 24/7 accessibility, paperless capabilities, unparalleled security, and the opportunity to greatly enhance client service. When it comes to comprehensive document management systems, GoFileRoom and its integrated modules, especially ClientFlow, are in a league of their own.”
